PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Up until a few hours ago, I thought this message would be pretty simple. Just a great big clipart image of a Christmas present. The caption would read, "Merry Christmas Cincinnati Art Club," with a brief explanation that we had closed on the property purchase. Then I got the call with the news that the closing had to be delayed until after the New Year.

A little disappointing, but be assured, there's no real problem. It's just that with the holidays, a little more time was needed to get all the parties together with all the papers that were required. Our part is all ready to go.

And so my mind was left to wonder what might fill this space. This is where it went. I thought of how fortunate we are to be artists. I thought of how fortunate our Club is to have the opportunities this property will bring. And I thought about families with a child in a hospital. I thought about those that would be cold or hungry this holiday season.

Art may never solve world hunger. It may never shelter everyone that's cold or end childhood illness. These may not be missions that our small Club can hope to address. But in this season of giving, I just ask you to find some small way to help someone less fortunate than we band of artists. We've been blessed this past year and will be even more so in the year to come.

Wishing you a Most Delightful New Year,

Clark

In this 3-day indoor landscape painting workshop, Bill will teach his three-step approach to painting: Block In (creating a foundation of beautiful “in light” and “in shadow” shapes), Middle (creating effective, meaningful and exciting color variations within the big blocked in shapes), and Finish (implied detail, edges, orchestrating the path of the eye, “bejeweling” the painting). Emphasis will be on design and how to create a sense of depth, light and atmosphere. He’ll be reinforcing fundamentals and you can always count on the newest insights and newest teaching approaches.

Participants will complete paintings on all 3 days of the workshop, going through all three steps in his approach and each day focus on specific points. Each day will include presentation, demo/exercises, a group feedback session at the end of the day and lots of time for you to paint with individual attention. Participants should have some experience oil painting.

*If I were called upon to define briefly the word Art,
I should call it the reproduction of what the senses perceive in nature, seen through the veil of the soul.*

YOU, Too, Can Make Art With Your iPad...

In this age of the computer, it is only natural that we bring it into the realm of making art. This began in 1985 when making changes on a computer was made easy. Using a variety of computers, art programs and input devices, the making of art has evolved with newer and easier options becoming available.

As artists, we know we need to keep in shape by drawing from a live model. Marty started his figure drawing with the first iPad and a program called, 'Brushes'... This was love at first sight! But, this program had its limitations, therefore, newer and easier to use tools were created. At a monthly DAWG meeting, David Forsthoefel, suggested the 'Procreate' program as an art tool and showed the ease of going beyond the limitations of the earlier 'Brushes' program. Using 'Procreate' with the new iPad Pro and Apple Pencil, one can now draw portraits and shapes with shading, which could not be done with earlier technology.

Marty will talk and demonstrate the possibilities of working with Digital Art at our breakfast meeting Saturday, January 21. Let's take this opportunity to get updated on how we can use our iPads in the art world!
